

Permit Center closed to in-person services effective March 18

In an abundance of caution due to concerns regarding the COVID-19 virus, the Permit Center in the Public Service Center has been closed beginning Wednesday, March 18.

The closure decision was made in consideration of the health of customers, employees and the community. We will re-evaluate the closure by April 1 to determine a date to re-open.

Permit Center staff currently is working on a way to use digital submittals as a way to keep business and permit processes moving during the time of closure.

”If you choose to upload your submittal documents please understand that we are working out a process for this review as we are not set up for this at this time. You are still able to make payments online and I encourage everyone to continue to check your online accounts for permit progress,” said Curtis.

This is a temporary closure to determine the best plan of action to continue submittal and issuance of building permits and submittal of land use, wetland/habitat and engineering applications.

This closure is only for the Permit Center at this time, building inspections will continue as normal until further notice.
